

The princess who wanted to be a shepherdess

A story by Eleni Zavaliadi (P2)

Once upon a time there lived a princess called Violet. Her parents named her Violet because she was born with violet coloured hair. She was very beautiful but as she grew up something went wrong with princess Violet: she wanted to be a shepherdess.

When she was thirteen years old, her father promised her that when she turned eighteen, she would be allowed to do whatever she wanted. Five years later the big day arrived, so Violet's father asked her what was her first wish.

— “What do you wish for first?” asked the king.

— “I only have one wish” said Violet.

— “What is it then?” asked the king.

— “Will you respect my wish?” asked Violet.

— “Of course!” said the king.

— “OK then. I want to be a shepherdess” said Violet.

— “What! I will never ever let the heiress of the throne be a... a shepherdess!!! That will never happen!!!!” yelled the king.

— “But dad you promised me that...”

— “I never knew you were going to ask to be a shepherhy!” yelled the King.

— “It's called a shepherdess!” shouted Violet.

— “Whatever! I will never let you be a ...”

— “Let her be a shepherdess!” shouted the queen.

— “You promised her she was allowed to do whatever she wanted” said the queen.

— “OK but take these 5000 gold coins so you can buy a home and food” said the king.

So, Violet packed her stuff and left.
