

Fun Home: A Family Tragicomic is a graphic novel/autobiography, which centres on the complex relationship between the author and her father. It covers difficult themes such as sexuality, gender roles, suicide, emotional abuse and dysfunctional families. It is recommended for 4th year and above and is not recommended for younger years due to the subjects it covers.

A short excerpt is below:

CONSIDERING THE FATE OF ICARUS AFTER HE FLOUTED HIS FATHER'S ADVICE AND FLEW SO CLOSE TO THE SUN HIS WINGS MELTED, PERHAPS SOME DARK HUMOR IS INTENDED.

BUT BEFORE HE DID SO, HE MANAGED TO GET QUITE A LOT DONE.

HIS GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT, ARGUABLY, WAS HIS MONOMANIACAL RESTORATION OF OUR OLD HOUSE.
